

Philippine Retirement Authority (PRA) ... PRA chairman Gen. Aglipay, PNP (Ret.) invites all to retire in the Philippines

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 30 (PinoyGlobal) — In a recent roundtable forum held at the Philippine Embassy in this city, Philippine General Edgar B. Aglipay, PNP (Ret.), chairman of the Philippine Retirement Authority based in Manila, hosted an afternoon of dialogue with several Filipino-American community stalwarts and American business personnel involved in retirement planning and facilities.

"Philippines is an ideal country that offers luxurious and modern facilities for anyone desiring to retire comfortably. The healthcare and medical facilities for retirees are comparable, if not better, in the Philippines than most countries," articulated the PRA chairman who was in town as part of his U.S. itinerary. "The cost of specially trained caregivers in the Philippines to take care of the needs of retirees is a fraction of a cost in the United States."

General Aglipay was accompanied by Philippine Retirement Authority Jun Capistrano of the Manila office. The roundtable forum was arranged by Ms. Daisy Tucay, NARC Director of International Program.

A reception was held immediately after the roundtable forum hosted by the Sunrise Senior Living on Connecticut Avenue at Sunrise's dining room.

#

Seated from left: Margie Paglinawan; Annie Wilderman; Cecile Gordon-Mullen; Daisy Tucay, NARC Director of International Programs; Dr. Bambi Lorica. Standing from left: Lory Morgia of Philippine Retirement Authority; Nonoy Mendoza of FILIM & PinoyGlobal; Adolfo "Ado" Paglinawan; Christian Co, Executive Director of Sunrise

Living on Connecticut Avenue; Domingo Tucay; General Edgar B. Aglipay, PNP (Ret.), Chairman of the Philippine Retirement Authority; Jon DeGuzman of Sunrise Senior Living; Jun Capistrano, Philippine retirement, Inc.; Alan Dubow, President, NARC; Jeanne Stanislaski, Sunrise Senior Living, MaryAnn Esposito, Family & Nursing Care