NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (Special to PinoyGlobal)- With the fluid and volatile political climate in the motherland our compatriots all over the world, particularly here in America, are anxious to know what is really happening back home. The news they read doesn't really tell much except report on the events but do not quench the thirst of kababayans who want to know more about the undercurrents and implications behind the news. People do not want to sniff the deodorized corruption in the government; they want to know the pungent truth.

Invariably the news are slanted or sugarcoated to protect political padrinos and corrupt public officials back home. Stories are also sensationalized to maximize the sales of newspapers and to popularize the television/radio networks.

In depth scrutiny of news items can only be read in the unvarnished analytical opinions of columnists especially from those outside the range of criminal libel in the Philippines who can fearlessly ventilate what they perceive as the truth behind the fumigated or deodorized news stories.

On that note, I am excited to announce that you can read Razor's Edge on various issues 3 times a week at www.filamimage.com. In all modesty I say Razor's Edge will give you a blow-by-blow analysis of the fast pacing political developments in the country. My relatives all over the U.S., from Chicago, San Diego, San Francisco, Seattle, Hawaii, and Canada not to mention the Philippines are happy to have access reading my columns at www.filamimage.com and of course at the Filipino Times.

That's the beauty being in the Internet you can have readers from all over world. So dear readers alert your friends and relatives that now they can read our no holds barred opinions on raging issues in the country at www.filamimage.com three times a week.
