Free Lozada? Let's make him a Senator makes more sense!

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 01 (PinoyGlobal) - We are all talk.

Let us put the much ballyhooed OFW and FilAm people power to test and see if we really have something to brag about in the first place. Remittance power, what the hell is that? You all know we cannot withhold sending money back home, so let us abandon this myth that we can boycott our economic role to our loved ones.

But politically, we can make a difference. So let's walk the talk.

Today I am unilaterally launching the Rodolfo "Jun" Lozada for Senator Movement (RLSM).

I am doing this because between justice, and tigers, gorillas, crocodiles and leeches sucking on our nation's blood and fleecing its patrimony, stand only our whistleblowers.

Our society is dangerously divided between the great majority that is suffering from poverty and neglect and a small power elite who has stolen power and is now arrogantly ruling with greed and malgovernance through commission and omission.

This elite has hijacked our Constitution, legislated in breach of common good and continues to fiddle like Nero while the Philippine political system like Rome burn because of their abuse of power and with impunity at that! Legalisms overlord human rights and corruption has been put on pedestal to be worshipped by those who have access to it, not to serve but to oppress the people.

Malacanang leads this resident evil.

For instance, no less than the presidential boyfriend, a former congressman and cabinet member, has been tasked to hail Jun Lozada to court. Once again he is shooting from his loin. This hunk is neither Michael the archangel nor a "defensor" of the oppressed. He is the accuser personified, no longer the bearer of light and truth that was Lucifer but now Satan the embodiment of everything unGodly. Like his patroness, he has refused to serve the people; he has betrayed the children of God, and rests totally dependent on the warmth of the bosom of her goddess of power, lust and money.

Why does he do this? Because there is money in it. This man made tens of millions in the 2007 senatorial elections even if he was not elected. And now he is setting up his 2010 fundraising once again. Did you not know that a lot of wannabes run not really to win but to cash in? This is the Philippines' number one livelihood - politics. He does not mind being called names and alluded to as Darth Vader himself (even if he really looks like him) because there is money in it, lots and lots and lots - and they all came from our people's tax money.

So let's get Jun Lozada elected senator instead of this termite.

Those of us who followed every day of that ZTE hearing have heard about his humility to accept sinfulness in the public altar while offering his privacy, security, safety, his entire future and almost his life, as a fitting sacrifice just to let the light and freedom of truth out.

And remember, we are sending Jun to the Senate not just because we want everyone to know that blowing the whistle against an unjust regime is moral and urgent, but more so we want him to implement the legislation of the wonderful vision he has about public finance and how government ought to protect the government treasure that the Arroyo administration has been using as its petty cash.

Free Lozada? Trust me, he will be out soon. That is already a done deal even as we speak. It does not hold water for police to use deceit in gaining access just to serve him a warrant of arrest in the first place. Perjury? Oh I am sure there will be millions who will contribute their mite to get him the best defense he deserves. Let us not worry about that.

Let us instead be proactive, let him use the excess of that money so he can launch his senatorial candidacy.

Let us put Jun Lozada to a real position of power so he can prosecute his accusers and enact laws against abuse of power.

Let us make him senator.

Let us write, email, call our relatives back home to resonate this movement. Let us ask that part of the money we send them be used for his candidacy.

Let us put this OFW power behind an electable person and not chase air castles behind dual citizens that the courts already said cannot qualify to run for Philippine elections. Lets start with something we can have a handle on and test its effect.

Join me in this cause for common good.

Today, this a movement of only one person. But tomorrow, there are you. Eight million of you.

p.s. And yes, you have my permission to shoot and blast this up to kingdom come.
